

Acers News!

It's been a wet couple of weeks and Acers have managed brilliantly with wet plays, cancelled dodgeball tournaments, flooding and more! We're hoping for a much more settled final week of the term.

We have been thoroughly enjoying our new Writing topic 'Emperor Penguins'. We are building up to writing a non-chronological report. This week we played the 'Incubation Challenge'. The children had to imagine they were a male Emperor Penguin and balance a small ball on their feet. They then needed to move around with it and even pass it to their partner. We really enjoyed this and realised how tricky it is!

Our Guided Reading book this half term is 'Why the Whales Came' by Michael Morpurgo. We have enough copies of the book for one between two, but if your child should want their own copy, they are more than welcome to bring in their own.

We have continued to practise using the samba drums in Music and have been learning 'Eye of the Tiger'.

In art, we have been making our final master pieces for our Environmental Art and these have turned out fantastic! They are so creative and independent. I'm really proud of the outcome and so are the children!

A reminder that reading books/records need to be in daily. PE kit must be worn for PE lessons with their school jumper. Please bring in spare shoes for after Forest School please. Several children came into school in their wellies; however, they then make the classroom very muddy at the end of the day. Please allow children to come to school in their trainers then change into wellies for Forest School.

Well done to Mary, Amelie, Philip, Norah, Jess, Frankie, Eddie, Aria and Antoan for achieving 50 dojos!

Thank you for your continued support,

Mrs Colville, Mrs Bowering and Mrs Garry
