

Chestnuts Newsletter 27th February

Welcome back! I hope you all enjoyed the break. Home learning, spellings and reading books will be given out again this week, as we get back into the swing of things.

English

The children are fascinated with the Apollo 11 moon landing and learning more about Neil Armstrong. We watched the launch and you could have heard a pin drop in the classroom, which is a rarity! But they were transfixed. Hopefully we can produce some super non-fiction writing to sit alongside this enthusiasm.

Maths

Year 1 are working on numbers within 50, looking at counting forwards and backwards and partitioning into tens and ones.

Year 2 have almost completed their unit of multiplication and division. Division is proving a little trickier. We are soon moving onto length and height.

Science

We are continuing our work about the Seasons and looking at specifically at the weather.

Geography

Our topic is Bright lights, big city and we are looking at what makes a place a city and not a town and locating them on a map of the UK.

Thank you for your support as always. Looking forward to seeing you all at the upcoming Parents meetings,

Mrs Pape
